Experts' opinions...

I thoroughly enjoyed reading Drs. Manu Kothari and Lopa Mehta's book on the new angle to coronary artery disease which looks closer to reality than all the theories doing the rounds so far.

Any serious student of medicine and all those that think the tiger of coronary artery disease is going to eat them up should read this book which will make them live longer sans anxiety. Fear kills! This book is a good remedy for imaginary fear psychosis in this area.

Modern Medicine claims to know more than it does.

If money can be made a procedure is made routine.

A perfectly healthy person is made into a 'cardiac neurotic'

Claims made about coronary stenosis as causing an MI are not substantiated by pathology.

Morbidity and mortality remain unchanged after all these interventions.

The writing is clear, full of humor and has many an insight that the public and physicians would be better off knowing.
